DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

On page 12, line 11, Equation 1 contains the variable (N) twice, and according to the following paragraph, lines 12-21; it would appear that the variable (N) in the equation has two different definitions. One instance of (N) representing “the number of times of recognition to identify as the same person in the past with regard to the face region A1 being recognized now” and the other instance representing “the area of the face region A1 being recognized”.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites the limitation "the face recognition" in 14. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Art Unit: 2624

Claim 3 recites the limitation "the present position" in lines 3-4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 4 recites the limitation "the present position" in lines 5-6. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 7 recites the limitation "the present position" in lines 3-4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 8 recites the limitation "the present position" in lines 5-6. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 9 recites the limitation "the present situation" in lines 4-5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 11 recites the limitation "the present position" in lines 3-4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 12 recites the limitation "the present position" in line 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Art Unit: 2624

Claim 15 recites the limitation "the present position" in lines 3-4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 16 recites the limitation "the present position" in 5-6. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 17 recites the limitation "the present situation" in lines 3-4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 19 recites the limitation "the present position" in lines 3-4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 20 recites the limitation "the present position" in line 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 23 recites the limitation "the present position" in lines 3-4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 24 recites the limitation "the present position" in 5-6. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Art Unit: 2624

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

The USPTO "Interim Guidelines for Examination of Patent Applications for Patent Subject Matter Eligibility" (Official Gazette notice of 22 November 2005), Annex IV, reads as follows:

Descriptive material can be characterized as either "functional descriptive material" or "nonfunctional descriptive material." In this context, "functional descriptive material" consists of data structures and computer programs which impart functionality when employed as a computer component. (The definition of "data structure" is "a physical or logical relationship among data elements, designed to support specific data manipulation functions." The New IEEE Standard Dictionary of Electrical and Electronics Terms 308 (5th ed. 1993).) "Nonfunctional descriptive material" includes but is not limited to music, literary works and a compilation or mere arrangement of data.

When functional descriptive material is recorded on some computer-readable medium it becomes structurally and functionally interrelated to the medium and will be statutory in most cases since use of technology permits the function of the descriptive material to be realized. Compare In re Lowry, 32 F.3d 1579, 1583-84, 32 USPQ2d 1031, 1035 (Fed. Cir. 1994) (claim to data structure stored on a computer readable medium that increases computer efficiency held statutory) and Warmerdam, 33 F.3d at 1360-61, 31 USPQ2d at 1759 (claim to computer having a specific data structure stored in memory held statutory product-by-process claim) with Warmerdam, 33 F.3d at 1361, 31 USPQ2d at 1760 (claim to a data structure per se held nonstatutory).

In contrast, a claimed computer-readable medium encoded with a computer program is a computer element which defines structural and functional interrelationships between the computer program and the rest of the computer which permit the computer program's functionality to be realized, and is thus statutory. See Lowry, 32 F.3d at 1583-84, 32 USPQ2d at 1035.

Claims 17-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter as follows. Claim 17 defines an "image recognition program" embodying functional descriptive material. However, the claim does not define a computer-readable medium or memory and is thus non-statutory for that reason (i.e., “When functional descriptive material is recorded on some computer-readable medium it becomes structurally and functionally interrelated to the medium and will be statutory in most cases since use of technology permits the function of the descriptive material to be realized” – Guidelines Annex IV). That is, the scope of the presently “image recognition program” can range from paper on which the program is written, to a program simply contemplated and memorized by a person. The examiner suggests amending the claim to embody the program on “computer-readable medium” or equivalent in order to make the claim statutory. Any amendment to the claim should be commensurate with its corresponding disclosure.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-16 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.
